How to Do Things with History Danielle Allen, Paul Christesen, Paul Millett, 2018-07-30. How to Do Things with History is a collection of essays that explores current and future approaches to the study of ancient Greek cultural history. Rather than focus directly on methodology, the essays in this volume demonstrate how some of the most productive and significant methodologies for studying ancient Greece can be employed to illuminate a range of different kinds of subject matter. These essays, which bring together the work of some of the most talented scholars in the field are based upon papers delivered at a conference held at Cambridge University in September of 2014 in honor of Paul Cartledge's retirement from the post of A G Leventis Professor of Ancient Greek Culture For the better part of four decades Paul Cartledge has spearheaded intellectual developments in the field of Greek culture in both scholarly and public contexts His work has combined insightful historical accounts of particular places periods and thinkers with a willingness to explore comparative approaches and a keen focus on methodology Cartledge has throughout his career emphasized the analysis of practice the study not for instance of the history of thought but of thinking in action and through action The assembled essays trace the broad horizons charted by Cartledge's work from studies of political thinking to accounts of legal and cultural practices to politically astute approaches to historiography The contributors to this volume all take the parameters and contours of Cartledge's work which has profoundly influenced an entire generation of scholars as starting points for their own historical and historiographical explorations Those parameters and contours provide a common thread that runs through and connects all of the essays while also offering sufficient freedom for individual contributors to demonstrate an array of rich and varied approaches to the study of the past

Hellenistic Athletes Sebastian Scharff,2024-03-20 This is a study of Hellenistic athletics from the perspective of the victors By analyzing agonistic epigrams as poetry on commission it investigates how successful athletes and horse owners and their sponsors wanted their victories to be understood Based on the identification of recurring motifs that exceed the conventions of the genre a multiplicity of agonistic cultures is detected on three different levels those of the polis the region and the empire Kings and queens used athletics in order to legitimate their rule cities tried to compensate for military defeats by agonistic successes and victorious aristocrats created virtual halls of fame to emphasize their common regional identity Without a doubt athletic victories represented far more than just leisure activities of Hellenistic noblemen They clearly mattered in terms of politics and social status
