UNESCO Training Manual for the Protection and Management of Underwater Cultural Heritage in Latin America and the Caribbean is samen met UNESCO ontwikkeld en vormt de basis voor trainingen in onderwater cultureel erfgoedbeheer in Latijns Amerika en de Cara ben Het is een vervolg op een eerder verschenen trainingsmanual 2012 waarin gefocused werd op Azi en de Pacifische regio uitgever The Queen's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions for the Government of Her Majesty's Naval Service Great Britain. Admiralty,1926 Decoding a Royal Marine Commando Mark Burchell,2018-10-25

With a heritage dating back to the mid seventeenth century the Royal Marines have accrued a rich history of rituals artefacts and material culture that is consciously deployed in order to define and shape the institution both historically and going forward into an uncertain future Drawing upon this heritage Mark Burchell offers a unique method of understanding how the Royal Marines draw upon this material culture in order to help transform ordinary labour power to political agency comprising acts of controlled and sustained violence He demonstrates how a barrage of objects and items including uniforms weapons landscapes architecture personal kit drills rituals and iconography are deployed in order successfully to integrate the recruits into the Royal Marines culture It is argued that this material culture is a vital tool with which to imprint the military s own image on new recruits as they embark on a process of de individualisation Having been granted unprecedented access to the Commando Training Centre at Lympstone as an anthropologist Burchell observed an intake of recruits throughout their demanding and exhausting year long training programme The resulting book presents to the academic community for the first time a theorised in depth account of a relatively unexplored social community and how its material culture creates and reifies new military identities This path breaking interdisciplinary analysis provides fresh understanding of the multiple processes of military enculturation through a meticulous revision of the relationships that exist between disciplinary and punishment practices violence and masculinity narratives and personhood and will explore how these issues are understood by recruits through their practical application of body to physical labour and by the cues of their surrounding material culture

Military Transformation Past and Present Mark D. Mandeles, 2007-09-30

Transformation has become a buzz word in today's military but what are its historical precursors those large scale changes that were once called Revolutions in Military Affairs RMA Who has gotten it right and who has not The Department of Defense must learn from history Most studies of innovation focus on the actions choices and problems faced by individuals in a particular organization Few place these individuals and organizations within the complex context where they operate Yet it is this very context that is a powerful determinant of how actions are conceived examined and implemented and of how errors are identified and corrected The historical cases that Mandeles examines reveal how different military services organized to learn accumulate and retrieve knowledge and how their particular organization affected everything from the equipment they acquired to the quality of doctrine and concepts used in combat In cases where more than one community of experts was responsible for weighing in on decisionmaking the service benefited from enhanced application of evidence sound inference and logic These cases demonstrate that for senior leadership participating in such a system should be a strategic and deliberate choice In each of the cases featured in this book no such deliberate choice was made The interwar U S Navy USN aviation community and the U S Marine Corps amphibious operation community were lucky that in a time of rapid technological advance and strategic risk their decisions in framing and solving technological and operational problems were made within a functioning multi organizational system The Army Air Corps and the Royal Marines were unfortunate with corresponding results It is characteristic of 20th century military history that no senior civilian or military leader suggested a policy to handle overlapping responsibilities by multiple departments Today's policymakers have not learned this lesson In the present time while a great deal of thought is devoted to proper organizational design and the numbers of persons required to perform necessary functions there is still no overarching framework guiding these designs
