How "Natives" Think Marshall Sahlins, 1996-08-14 When Western scholars write about non Western societies do they inevitably perpetuate the myths of European imperialism Can they ever articulate the meanings and logics of non Western peoples Who has the right to speak for whom Questions such as these are among the most hotly debated in contemporary intellectual life In How Natives Think Marshall Sahlins addresses these issues head on while building a powerful case for the ability of anthropologists working in the Western tradition to understand other cultures In recent years these questions have arisen in debates over the death and deification of Captain James Cook on Hawaii Island in 1779 Did the Hawaiians truly receive Cook as a manifestation of their own god Lono Or were they too pragmatic too worldly wise to accept the foreigner as a god Moreover can a non native scholar give voice to a native point of view In his 1992 book The Apotheosis of Captain Cook Gananath Obeyesekere used this very issue to attack Sahlins's decades of scholarship on Hawaii Accusing Sahlins of elementary mistakes of fact and logic even of intentional distortion Obeyesekere portrayed Sahlins as accepting a naive ethnocentric idea of superiority of the white man over natives Hawaiian and otherwise Claiming that his own Sri Lankan heritage gave him privileged access to the Polynesian native perspective Obeyesekere contended that Hawaiians were actually pragmatists too rational and sensible to mistake Cook for a god Curiously then as Sahlins shows Obeyesekere turns eighteenth century Hawaiians into twentieth century modern Europeans living up to the highest Western standards of practical rationality By contrast Western scholars are turned into classic custom bound natives endlessly repeating their ancestral traditions of the White man s superiority by insisting Cook was taken for a god But this inverted ethnocentrism can only be supported as Sahlins demonstrates through wholesale fabrications of Hawaiian ethnography and history not to mention Obeyesekere s sustained misrepresentations of Sahlins s own work And in the end although he claims to be speaking on behalf of the natives Obeyesekere by substituting a home made rationality for Hawaiian culture systematically eliminates the voices of Hawaiian people from their own history How Natives Think goes far beyond specialized debates about the alleged superiority of Western traditions The culmination of Sahlins s ethnohistorical research on Hawaii it is a reaffirmation for understanding difference

The Wet and the Dry Patrick Vinton Kirch,1994 Scholars and researchers have long believed that the ability to irrigate is crucial to the development of civilizations In this book archaeologist Patrick Kirch challenges this hydraulic hypothesis and provides a more accurate and detailed account of the role of wet and dry cultivation systems in the development of complex sociopolitical structures Examining research on cultural adaptation and ecology in Western Polynesia and utilizing extensive data from a variety of important South Pacific sites Kirch not only reveals how particular systems of production developed within the constraints imposed by environmental conditions but also explores the tension that arises between contrasting productive systems with differential abilities to produce surplus He shows that the near total neglect of short fallow dryland cultivation as well as arboriculture or tree cropping has seriously distorted the picture that archaeologists and anthropologists have of agricultural intensification and its relation to complex social structure This work likely to become a classic will be central to all future discussions of the ecology and politics of agricultural intensification

Hawaiki, Ancestral Polynesia Patrick Vinton Kirch,Roger C.

Green,2001-03-15 The power of an anthropological approach to long term history lies in its unique ability to combine diverse evidence from archaeological artifacts to ethnographic texts and comparative word lists In this innovative book Kirch and Green explicitly develop the theoretical underpinnings as well as the particular methods for such a historical anthropology Drawing upon and integrating the approaches of archaeology comparative ethnography and historical linguistics they advance a phylogenetic model for cultural diversification and apply a triangulation method for historical reconstruction They illustrate their approach through meticulous application to the history of the Polynesian cultures and for the first time reconstruct in extensive detail the Ancestral Polynesian culture that flourished in the Polynesian homeland Hawaiki some 2 500 years ago Of great significance for Oceanic studies Kirch and Green s book will be essential reading for any anthropologist prehistorian linguist or cultural historian concerned with the theory and method of long term history

Rethinking East Asian Languages, Vernaculars, and Literacies, 1000-1919 ,2014-08-21 The authors consider new views of the classical versus vernacular dichotomy that are especially central to the new historiography of China and East Asian languages Based on recent debates initiated by Sheldon Pollock s findings for South Asia we examine alternative frameworks for understanding East Asian languages between 1000 and 1919 Using new sources making new connections and re examining old assumptions we have asked whether and why East and SE Asian languages e g Chinese Manchu Mongolian Jurchen Korean Japanese and Vietnamese should be analysed in light of a Eurocentric dichotomy of Latin versus vernaculars This discussion has encouraged us to explore whether European modernity is an appropriate standard at all for East Asia Individually and collectively we have sought to establish linkages between societies without making a priori assumptions about the countries internal structures or the genealogy of their connections Contributors include Benjamin Elman Peter Kornicki John Phan Wei Shang Haruo Shirane M rten S derblom Saarela Daniel Trambaiolo Atsuko Ueda Sixiang Wang Dong Zhongshu, a 'Confucian' Heritage and the Chunqiu Fanlu Michael Loewe,2011-04-11 The assumption that a system described as Confucianism formulated by Dong Zhongshu became accepted as the norm during the Western Han dynasty 202 BCE 9 CE is challenged and his supposed authorship of the Chunqiu fanlu examined Islands of History

Marshall Sahlins,2013-03-06 Marshall Sahlins centers these essays on islands Hawaii Fiji New Zealand whose histories have intersected with European history But he is also concerned with the insular thinking in Western scholarship that creates false dichotomies between past and present between structure and event between the individual and society Sahlins s provocative reflections form a powerful critique of Western history and anthropology 'Akatokamanāva Jukka Siikala,1991 In English some text in Cook Islands Maori Analyses the political system of the Ngaputuru group in the Southern Cook Islands Beginning with local notions about the origin and population special attention is paid to the way in which the initial positions in the system emerge as genealogical positions Back cover Includes index Includes bibliographical references p 143 150
