The following is an excerpt from my book Bang: Text messaging was barely on the radar when I wrote the first edition of this book (I remember calling it “a waste of time”), but a lot has changed since then. In fact, my current recommendation is to use text messaging instead of calling as your main way to schedule first dates. The reason is because I’ve had sex with girls using text messaging who wouldn’t have otherwise returned my voicemail.

What often happens with voicemail is that a girl may plan to call you back but forgets or loses track of time. A day or two passes and then she feels weird, hesitant, or nervous about picking up the phone. With text, you get responses from girls who are more shy, passive, or flakey, but still open to having sex. There’s also a younger breed of girl who was raised on text and has little experience about making calls and having a normal conversation with a man.

While text messaging is easier in that you’ll make fewer mistakes than in a live conversation, it’s far more annoying and tedious. For example, when you call a girl and leave a voice message, you often hear back in a short time and then set a date in just a few minutes, but with text messaging the process can be drawn out for hours—or even days. You’ll sit staring at your phone, wondering why women have made the simple act of setting a date so much more complicated than it needs to be.

The key to preventing yourself from going crazy is to be patient, not to get frustrated, and to keep it as simple as possible. On the phone you can crack a joke here or there and then ease into making plans, but that would be foolhardy using text because it’s surely going to be misinterpreted. You’ll be written off as weird. The
