Changing Chinese Foodways in Asia David Y. H. Wu, Chee-Beng Tan, 2001 Through the lens of Chinese food the authors address recent theories in social science concerning cultural identity ethnicity boundary formation consumerism and globalization and the invention of local cuisine in the context of rapid culture change in East and Southeast Asia The World of Street Food Troth Wells, 2007-03-15 A collective effort by the author and fans of street food worldwide this book combines thorough research with personal stories from the people and places the recipes come from Each recipe is accompanied by award winning food photography and evocative travel pictures The majority of recipes are vegetarian and many are vegan or vegan adaptable As with all New Internationalist food books The World of Street Food includes information on nutrition and organic Fair Trade ingredients The Asian Home Kitchen Leemei Tan-Boisgillot, 2022-06-14 An award winning collection of over 110 modern and delectable recipes from across Asia Whether you fancy Korean fried chicken a warming bibimbap spicy dan dan noodles a hearty rendang a zingy papaya salad banh mi on the go or satisfying masala dosa The Asian Home Kitchen has a quick easy and delicious recipe for every craving From the simplicity and balanced elegance of Japanese sushi to the subtle boldness of Sri Lankan curries the 110 dishes in this cookbook show the huge variety and versatility of flavour from all over Asia Packed with vegetables fresh fish and nutritious herbs and spices all the recipes are light sumptuous and practical Written by the blogger behind My Cooking Hut Leemei Tan Boisgillot who has travelled and lived in many different places across Asia this is the new and updated edition of the award winning Lemongrass and Ginger featuring brand new recipes that celebrate commonly available ingredients and street food favourites Leemei also provides a collection of essential tips and tricks including how to cook any rice perfectly every time and short recipes for over 20 different spice pastes all taking 10 minutes or less to prepare which are the key to ensuring an authentic fragrance at the heart of every recipe you make Food Culture in Southeast Asia Penny Van Esterik, 2008-08-30 Southeast Asian cuisines such as Thai have become quite popular in the United States even though immigrant numbers are low The food is appealing because it is tasty attractive and generally healthful with plentiful vegetables fish noodles and rice Food Culture in Southeast Asia is a richly informative overview of the food and foodways of the mainland countries including Burma Thailand Lao Vietnam Cambodia and Malaysia and the island countries of Singapore Brunei East Timor Indonesia and the Philippines Students and other readers will learn how diverse peoples from diverse geographies feed themselves and the value they place on eating as a material social and symbolic act Chapter 1 Historical Overview surveys the archaeological and historical evidence concerning mainland Southeast Asia with emphasis on the Indianized kingdoms of the mainland and the influence of the spice trade on subsequent European colonization Chapter 2 Major Foods and Ingredients particularly illuminates the rice culture as the central source of calories and a dominant cultural symbol of feminine nurture plus fish and fermented fish products local fresh vegetables and herbs and meat in variable amounts The Cooking chapter discusses the division of labor in the kitchen kitchens and their equipment and the steps in acquiring processing and preparing food The Typical Meals chapter approaches typical meals by describing some common meal elements meal format and the timing of meals Typical meals are presented as variations on a common theme with particular attention to contrasts such as rural urban and palace village Iconic meals and dishes that carry special meaning as markers of ethnic or national identity are also covered Chapter 6 Eating Out reviews some of the options for public eating away from home in the region including the newly developed popularity of Southeast Asian restaurants overseas The chapter has an urban middle class bias as those are the people who are eating out on a regular basis The Special Occasions chapter examines ritual events such as feeding the spirits of rice and the ancestors Buddhist and Muslim rituals involving food rites of passage and universal celebrations around the coming of the New Year The final chapter on diet and health looks at some of the ideologies underlying the relation between food and disease particularly the humoral system and then considers the nutritional challenges related to recent changes in local food systems including food safety Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond Tan

Chee-Beng, 2012-08-01 Chinese cuisine has had a deep impact on culinary traditions in Southeast Asia where the lack of certain ingredients and access to new ingredients along with the culinary knowledge of local people led Chinese migrants to modify traditional dishes and to invent new foods This process brought the cuisine of southern China considered by some writers to be the finest in the world into contact with a wide range of local and global cuisines and ingredients When Chinese from Southeast Asia moved on to other parts of the world they brought these variants of Chinese food with them completing a cycle of culinary reproduction localization and invention and globalization The process does not end there for the new context offers yet another set of ingredients and culinary traditions and the embedding and fusing of foods continues creating additional hybrid forms Written by scholars whose deep familiarity with Chinese cuisine is both personal and academic

Chinese Food and Foodways in Southeast Asia and Beyond is a book that anyone who has been fortunate enough to encounter Southeast Asian food will savour and it provides a window on this world for those who have yet to discover it

Tapau: The Best of Malaysian Food Writing 2000-2022 Wan Phing Lim, Jason S Ganesan, May Chong, 2024-11-29 A simple spice can open up meditations on love and life. In food we find connection to one another like a homesick student searching for the perfect cup of teh tarik. Yet paradoxically food is a polarizer like a Muslim convert craving a pork bun. From tracing the origins of our hawker food to a love letter for Ipoh told in local favourites these works are an eclectic mix of the Malaysian obsession with food. For all our differences Malaysians find commonality in one thing we want you to be well fed. Savour these small packages of good writing covering a wide array of foods to please every palate from laksa and sambal telur belimbing to french fries and Bru coffee. Come for the carbs. Stay for the whole menu. Featuring work by award winning author Elaine Chiew DK Dutt Memorial Award founder Dipika Mukherjee and celebrated professor and poet Dr Malachi Edwin Vethamani
