Pearson World History 2011 Study Guide:

The Material of World History Tina Mai Chen, David S. Churchill, 2015-03-27 This volume considers the confluence of World History and historical materialism with the following guiding question in mind given developments in the field of historical materialism concerned with the intersection of race gender labour and class why is it that within the field of World History historical materialism has been marginalized precisely as World History orients toward transnational socio cultural phenomenon micro studies or global histories of networks Answering this question requires thinking in an inter related manner about both the development of World History as a discipline and the place of economic determinism in historical materialism This book takes the position that historical materialism as applied to the field of World History needs to be more open to the methodological diversity of the materialist tradition and to refuse narrowly deterministic frameworks that have led to marginalization of materialist cultural analysis in studies of global capitalism At the same time World History needs to be more self critical of the methodological diversity it has welcomed through a largely inclusionary framework that allows the material to be considered separately from cultural social and intellectual dimensions of global processes Clinical

Successful Strategies for Teaching Undergraduate Research Marta Deyrup,Beth Bloom,2013-09-11 Editors Marta Deyrup and Beth Bloom have brought together well known educators from the fields of library science communication composition and education to show you how to develop successful strategies for teaching undergraduates how to conduct basic research and write papers Chapters cover each step of the research process beginning appropriately with separate pieces from a librarian and from an academic on how to construct good research assignments Following chapters cover establishing the research question assessing the research process information ethics and the protocols of research and using new modes and media to communicate research findings The book fully explores current theories on pedagogy and provides practical demonstrations of how library instruction can reinforce critical thinking and set the groundwork in place for life long learning Each chapter contains an extensive bibliography for further reading Jacques Derrida and the Challenge of History Sean Gaston,2018-11-23 This important new book argues that Jacques Derrida s work can be treated as the basis for a distinctive historiography The possibility of seeing Derrida not as a philosopher of language but as a philosopher of history has become more apparent with the recent publication of Derrida s 1964 1965 seminar Heidegger The Question of Being and History We now know that the problem of history was at the heart of Derrida s writing in the mid 1960s prior to the publication of his best known work Of Grammatology 1967 Arguing that Derrida s scholarship in the 1960s and early 1970s on historicism historicity and the problem of history can be treated as the basis for a philosophy of history Sean Gaston focuses on Derrida s work from the mid 1970s to the mid 1990s and his relentless questioning of context memory and narrative as the delineation of a deconstructive historiography The book raises a challenge for historians to think about both deconstruction and historiography arguing that contemporary philosophy can provide a basis for thinking about history in the name of a deconstructive historiography that is not incompatible with rigorous historical scholarship The Oxford Handbook of Adaptation Studies Thomas Leitch, 2017-03-17 This collection of forty new essays written by the leading scholars in adaptation studies and distinguished contributors from outside the field is the most comprehensive volume on adaptation ever published Written to appeal alike to specialists in adaptation scholars in allied fields and general readers it hearkens back to the foundations of adaptation studies a century and more ago surveys its ferment of activity over the past twenty years and looks forward to the future It considers the very different problems in adapting the classics from the Bible to Frankenstein to Philip Roth and the commons from online mashups and remixes to adult movies It surveys a dizzying range of adaptations around the world from Latin American telenovelas to Czech cinema from Hong Kong comics to Classics Illustrated from Bollywood to zombies and explores the ways media as different as radio opera popular song and videogames have handled adaptation Going still further it examines the relations between adaptation and such intertextual practices as translation illustration prequels sequels remakes intermediality and transmediality The volume's contributors consider the similarities and differences between adaptation and history adaptation and performance adaptation and revision and textual and biological adaptation casting an appreciative but critical eye on the theory and practice of adaptation scholars and occasionally each other The Oxford Handbook of Adaptation Studies offers specific suggestions for how to read teach create and write about adaptations in order to prepare for a world in which adaptation already ubiquitous is likely to become ever more important Educating Students with Disabilities in Queensland Independent Christian Schools Dr. David Mercer, 2018-08-27 In recent decades in Australia as elsewhere students with disabilities SWD have been increasingly introduced to mainstream schools This reflects both changes in social attitudes towards young people with a disability and changes in the policy environment for disability and education At the same time independent schools in Australia have been growing both in number and rate but as Prasser 2009a has indicated the numbers of SWD in independent schools are not growing at a proportional rate In Christian independent schools policy issues with regard to SWD collide with central tenets of the Christian faith and the business models in which these schools operate and these may generate tensions and problems with regard to educating these students This study sought to explore the issues surrounding educating SWD in a number of regional independent schools in the state of Queensland Australia It sought to uncover uniquely Christian approaches to educating SWD by exploring a the perspectives of principals of these independent Christian schools b tensions between faith and policy and c issues surrounding the mainstreaming of SWD The research used methods of qualitative data collection and analysis In depth interviews with ten principals of regional independent schools in Queensland RICSQ provided the primary form of data collection complemented by data gained from studies of relevant documents Data analysis involved two stages i thematic analysis and ii discourse analysis Surprisingly the findings from these analyses showed that the enrolment of students with disabilities in the RICSQ privileged a secular business discourse above Christian concerns With regard to the education of SWD these principals were clearly facing a dichotomous tension between the expectations of their faith and those of having to lead sizeable business organisations In particular the critical policy moment for educating SWD in RICSQ came at the point of enrolment The outcomes of the study have highlighted the tensions facing principals in these schools in educating SWD and may provide evidence for principals school boards and others in the development of policy for SWD in independent schools They also highlight a need for more widespread perhaps quantitative research around the education of SWD in such schools and this may also have implications for the education of such students in other schools and systems

The Economy of a Norse Settlement in the Outer Hebrides Niall Sharples, 2020-11-23 This book explores the economic evidence for the settlement at Bornais on South Uist It reports in detail on the large assemblages of material found during the excavations at mounds 2 and 2A There is important evidence for craft activity such as bone and antler working and this includes the only comb making workshop from a rural settlement in Britain A large proportion of the copper alloy bone and antler assemblages comprise pieces of personal adornment and provide important information on the dress and thereby social relations within the settlement occupation There is a large assemblage of iron tools and fittings which provides important information on the activities taking place at the settlement The information derived from the artefact assemblages is complemented by that provided by the ecofactual material Large amounts of animal fish and bird bones plus carbonised plant remains provide detailed information on agricultural practices and the processing preparation and consumption of foodstuffs It is clear that the Norse inhabitants of the settlement had access to a much richer variety of resources than had been exploited before the Viking colonisation of the region The settlement also had a significantly wider range of connections material culture indicates contacts to the south with the Irish Sea ports and Bristol and to the north with Shetland and the Viking homelands of Norway The evidence produced by these excavations is exceptional and provides an unparalleled opportunity to explore medieval life in the Scandinavian kingdoms of Western Britain
