exceptional qualities of the human members of the category insisting for instance on their religious beliefs or creativity In contrast the international case studies in this volume dissect views based on hierarchical oppositions between human and other living beings Although human practices may sometimes appear to exist in a realm beyond nature they are nevertheless subject to the pull of natural forces These forces may be brought into prominence through a consideration of the interactions between human beings and other inhabitants of the natural world The interplay in this book between social anthropologists philosophers and artists cuts across species divisions to examine the experiential dimensions of interspecies engagements In ethnographically and or historically contextualized chapters contributors examine the juxtaposition of human and other living beings in the light of themes such as wildlife safaris violence difference mimicry simulation spiritual renewal dress and language original Darwinism and the Neo Darwinist synthesis Ethologists and sociobiologists are today taking over and assuring us that they have the necessary tools to provide an answer to what perhaps seemed the most slippery subject in the hands of science the social being As might be expected philosophers have reacted with some scepticism Though human conduct is undoubtedly subject to determinants the lion's share of responsibility lies with society itself At the time when biology was beginning to develop the theories necessary to overcome creationism Karl Marx had already managed to construct highly sophisticated interpretive models of human social behaviour
