The Nervous System

The nervous system is an extremely complex, highly intricate, and very sensitive structure that regulates everything that happens throughout the human body. The main purpose of all the nervous system and its various parts is to carry and send information, and give the body signals that control the muscles. The nervous system is basically made of two systems: the central nervous system and the peripheral nervous system.

Central Nervous System

The central nervous system, or CNS, is the part of the nervous system that is located in the brain and spinal cord. It is the most important part of the nervous system. The brain is the control center of the body, and is located within the protective hard skull. Layers of meninges and cerebrospinal fluid also protect the CNS. The spinal cord is made of many segments, and is located in the vertebral column. It is the main pathway for the signals that go to and from the rest of the body.

Peripheral Nervous System

There are all parts of the nervous system that are not the CNS, and they make up the peripheral nervous system, or PNS. The PNS is made up of all the nerves that are outside of the brain and spinal cord. It is the part of the nervous system that is responsible for sending and receiving information from the rest of the body. The PNS is made up of all the nerves that are outside of the brain and spinal cord.
