Atwater Collection of American Popular Medicine and Health Reform: A-L Christopher Hoolihan, 2001 This is a catalogue of the Edward C Atwater Collection of rare books dealing with popular medicine in early America which is housed at the University of Rochester Medical School library The books described in the catalogue were written by physicians and other professionals to provide information for the non medical audience The books taught human anatomy hygiene temperance and diet how to maintain health and how to cope with illness especially when no professional help was available The books promoted a healthy lifestyle for the readers giving guidance on everything from physical fitness and recreation to the special health needs of women The collection consists of works dealing with reproduction from birth control to delivering and caring for a baby venereal disease home nursing epidemics and the need for public sex education These books covering areas largely ignored by the medical profession made important contributions to the health of the American public and the collection is a vital piece of medical history The collector is Edward C Atwater Professor Emeritus of Medicine and the History of Medicine at the University of Rochester Medical School Christopher Hoolihan is History of Medicine Librarian at the University of Rochester Medical School s Edward G Miner Library      The Shepheardes Calender Lynn Staley Johnson, Lynn Staley, 2010-11 The Shepheardes Calender is the poem that launched Edmund Spenser s career and changed the direction of English poetry In this reappraisal Lynn Staley Johnson demonstrates that Spenser himself made a self conscious effort to create a new literature a new esthetic for a new era Drawing upon a wide range of primary sources she places the poem in its literary social political and cultural context contributing to our understanding of the relationship between Spenser and his times She pays particular attention to the emergence of the myth of Elizabeth and of England during the first half of Elizabeth s reign and the ways in which the young Spenser manipulated the concerns and issues of the time transforming popular culture into literary expression By its active engagement with both the present and the past the Calender suggests Spenser s conception of poetry as informed dialogue designed for social work offering a reinterpretation of the relationship between the poet and his community Choosing not to be circumscribed by the voices of his significant historical and literary past the Calender proclaims the poet not as transmitter or mediator but as an active and shaping force capable of remaking the present by offering his age a picture of a new and potentially more glorious reality Johnson seeks to bridge the gap between the literature of the Middle Ages and the Renaissance by linking Spenser s strategies and themes to those of his medieval forebears especially Chaucer Both Edmund Spenser and his enigmatic Calender stand facing two ways back into the age dubbed as it s study demonstrates only by bringing these views into a single focus can we begin to appreciate the radical and innovative nature of a poem that for many heralds the renaissance of English poetry      Crafting Tradition Michael Chibnik, 2010-01-01 Since the mid 1980s whimsical brightly colored wood carvings from the Mexican state of Oaxaca have found their way into gift shops and private homes across the United States and Europe as Western consumers seek to connect with the authenticity and tradition represented by indigenous folk arts Ironically however the Oaxacan wood carvings are not a traditional folk art Invented in the mid twentieth century by non Indian Mexican artisans for the tourist market their appeal flows as much from intercultural miscommunication as from their intrinsic artistic merit In this beautifully illustrated book Michael Chibnik offers the first in depth look at the international trade in Oaxacan wood carvings including their history production marketing and cultural representations Drawing on interviews he conducted in the carving communities and among wholesalers retailers and consumers he follows the entire production and consumption cycle from the harvesting of copal wood to the final purchase of the finished piece Along the way he describes how and why this invented tradition has been promoted as a Zapotec Indian craft and explores its similarities with other local crafts with longer histories He also fully discusses the effects on local communities of participating in the global market concluding that the trade in Oaxacan wood carvings is an almost paradigmatic case study of globalization

Translation and Identity in the Americas Edwin Gentzler, 2012-11-12 Translation is a highly contested site in the Americas where different groups often with competing literary or political interests vie for space and approval. In its survey of these multiple and competing groups and its study of the geographic, socio-political and cultural aspects of translation, Edwin Gentzler's book demonstrates that the Americas are a fruitful terrain for the field of translation studies. Building on research from a variety of disciplines including cultural studies, linguistics, feminism and ethnic studies and including case studies from Brazil, Canada and the Caribbean, this book shows that translation is one of the primary means by which a culture is constructed. Translation in the Americas is less something that happens between separate and distinct cultures and more something that is capable of establishing those very cultures. Using a variety of texts and addressing minority and oppressed groups within cultures, Translation and Identity in the Americas highlights, by example, the cultural role translation policies play in a discriminatory process the consequences of which can be social marginalization loss of identity and psychological trauma Translation and Identity the Americas will be critical reading for students and scholars of Translation Studies Comparative Literature and Cultural Studies Nordic Romanticism Cian Duffy,Robert W.
