

The background of the slide is a light blue gradient with faint, technical line drawings. At the top, there are diagrams of an aircraft's pitch and yaw movements, showing angles and axes. Below these, there are sketches of various aircraft, including a propeller-driven plane on the left and a jet fighter on the right. In the center, there is a diagram of a vertical structure, possibly a landing gear or a support frame, with horizontal lines extending from it. At the bottom, there are more aircraft sketches, including a small propeller plane and a larger jet, with lines indicating flight paths or structural components.
