 text expands greatly on the initial CRM topics covered in the opening section of the book Hot topics in CRM training including the concepts of followership and conflict resolution and highlights strategies such as mindfulness and others to manage stress and reduce burnout are discussed The text also expands into novel areas of trauma care including less invasive bedside endovascular treatments such as REBOA Resuscitative Endovascular Balloon Occlusion of the Aorta and a more in depth discussion of teleresuscitation and trauma care in austere environments Featuring 28 new chapters the second edition of Trauma Team Dynamics is written by experts in trauma critical care emergency medicine nursing respiratory

OVERVIEW Tactical Combat Casualty Care TCCC was developed to emphasize the need for continued improvement in combat pre hospital care The Committee on Tactical Combat Casualty Care CoTCCC was established in 2001 and is part of the Defense Health Board CoTCCC is a standing multi service committee charged with monitoring medical developments in regards to practice technology pharmacology and doctrine New concepts in hemorrhage control airway management fluid resuscitation analgesia antibiotics and other lifesaving techniques are important steps in providing the best possible care for our Marines and Sailors in combat The TCCC guidelines are published every 4 years in the Prehospital Trauma Life Support manual It has been recognized that TCCC guidelines and curriculum will need to change more often than the 4 year cycle of the PHTLS textbook publication The National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians NAEMT will include the updated TCCC guidelines and curriculum on its website as they are approved as a way to help get this new information out to the combat medical personnel in the military that need it

PRINCIPLES OF TACTICAL COMBAT CASUALTY CARE TCCC

The principles of Tactical Combat Casualty Care are fundamentally different from those of traditional civilian trauma care where most medical providers and medics train. These differences are based on both the unique patterns and types of wounds that are suffered in combat and the tactical conditions medical personnel face in combat. Unique combat wounds and tactical conditions make it difficult to determine which intervention to perform at what time. Besides addressing a casualty's medical condition, responding medical personnel must also address the tactical problems faced while providing care in combat. A medically correct intervention at the wrong time may lead to further casualties. Put another way, good medicine may be a bad tactical decision which can get the rescuer and the casualty killed. To successfully navigate these issues, medical providers must have skills and training oriented to combat trauma care as opposed to civilian trauma care. The specifics of casualty care in the tactical setting will depend on the tactical situation, the injuries sustained by the casualty, the knowledge and skills of the first responder, and the medical equipment at hand. In contrast to a hospital Emergency Department setting where the patient is the mission, on the battlefield care of casualties sustained is only PART of the mission. TCCC recognizes this fact and structures its guidelines to accomplish three primary goals: 1. Treat the casualty, 2. Prevent additional casualties, 3. Complete the mission. In thinking about the management of combat casualties, it is helpful to divide care into three distinct phases, each with its own characteristics and limitations.

PHTLS: Prehospital Trauma Life Support, Military Edition National Association of Emergency Medical Technicians, 2019-10. Fundamentals of Military Medicine Francis G. O'Connor, Eric B. Schoomaker, Dale C. Smith, 2019-06-03. An introduction to military medicine for medical students new to the military. Military medicine is the application of medical art and science in a military setting for the benefit of the military organization through optimal care of the combatant. Topics include the history of military medicine, leadership, the management and treatment of trauma and mass casualties in frequently austere field and ship environments, the humane clearing of the battlefield, vaccines and protection against exotic global pathogens, both manmade and naturally occurring, unique psychological stressors of war, biodefense against chemical and nuclear weapons, facilitating return to duty, and the eventual return and reintegration home of valuable human resource. This first of its kind textbook offers both authoritative scholarship and the experience of high level medical officers for the new medical officer within any of the armed services, ranging from medical, surgical, nursing, dental, veterinary, and more. It also provides health education and research for the military health professionals deployed to save enlisted military lives and
