Fact-Finding without Facts Nancy A. Combs, 2010-07-30 Fact Finding Without Facts explores international criminal fact finding empirically conceptually and normatively After reviewing thousands of pages of transcripts from various international criminal tribunals the author reveals that international criminal trials are beset by numerous and severe fact finding impediments that substantially impair the tribunals ability to determine who did what to whom These fact finding impediments have heretofore received virtually no publicity let alone scholarly treatment and they are deeply troubling not only because they raise grave concerns about the accuracy of the judgments currently being issued but because they can be expected to similarly impair the next generation of international trials that will be held at the International Criminal Court After setting forth her empirical findings the author considers their conceptual and normative implications The author concludes that international criminal tribunals purport a fact finding competence that they do not possess and as a consequence base their judgments on a less precise more amorphous method of fact finding than they publicly acknowledge

Fact-Finding in International

Arbitration Julian Bickmann,2022-12-09 Establishing a factual basis on which to apply the law can be an extraordinarily challenging process and perhaps more so in international arbitration than in any other proceedings due to the very different notions of fact finding that prevail among jurisdictions This important book assesses for the first time the contours of an emerging transnational law of fact finding that promises to greatly enhance the efficiency and reliability of this crucial arbitral procedure In his analysis focusing on bases that reflect current but fluid transnational practice the author assembles

a viable lex evidentiæ from an in depth examination and synthesis of the following bodies of source material published arbitration proceedings and awards the general framework of fact finding issues as provided for under the arbitration acts of England and Wales the United States Germany Brazil Spain Switzerland Austria and Italy as well as under the Model Law fact finding stipulations under UNCITRAL Arbitration Rules as well as under various institutional rules soft law such as the IBA Rules Prague Rules ALI UNIDROIT Principles of Transnational Civil Procedure best practices as captured by legal commentary and investment arbitration proceedings where many decisions and awards are nowadays publicly available In the course of the analysis a comprehensive description and analysis of what fact finding entails including both gathering of facts and taking of evidence is fully elaborated Given that it is an essential task of international arbitration proceedings to define the disagreements between the parties and seek to determine the truth the international arbitration community must be able to rely on a robust consistent and predictable albeit flexible and adaptive set of fact finding rules Against this background the present study not only provides a stocktaking of current practice but also makes a signal contribution to meeting the need for legal certainty and reliability in international arbitration

The Transformation of Human Rights Fact-finding Philip Alston, Sarah Knuckey, 2016 Fact finding is at the heart of human rights advocacy and is often at the center of international controversies about alleged government abuses In recent years human rights fact finding has greatly proliferated and become more sophisticated and complex while also being subjected to stronger scrutiny from governments Nevertheless despite the prominence of fact finding it remains strikingly under studied and under theorized Too little has been done to bring forth the assumptions methodologies and techniques of this rapidly developing field or to open human rights fact finding to critical and constructive scrutiny The Transformation of Human Rights Fact Finding offers a multidisciplinary approach to the study of fact finding with rigorous and critical analysis of the field of practice while providing a range of accounts of what actually happens It deepens the study and practice of human rights investigations and fosters fact finding as a discretely studied topic while mapping crucial transformations in the field The contributions to this book are the result of a major international conference organized by New York University Law School's Center for Human Rights and Global Justice Engaging the expertise and experience of the editors and contributing authors it offers a broad approach encompassing contemporary issues and analysis across the human rights spectrum in law international relations and critical theory This book addresses the major areas of human rights fact finding such as victim and witness issues fact finding for advocacy enforcement and litigation the role of interdisciplinary expertise and methodologies crowd sourcing social media and big data and international guidelines for fact finding

Documents on Disarmament , 1986 Refugee Law's Fact-Finding Crisis Hilary Evans Cameron, 2018-05-10 At a time when many around the world are fleeing their homes seeking refugee protection has become a game of chance Partly to blame is the law that governs how refugee status decision makers resolve their doubts This long neglected branch of refugee law has been growing in the dark with little guidance from the Refugee Convention and little attention from scholars By looking closely at the Canadian jurisprudence Hilary Evans Cameron provides the first full account of what this law is trying to accomplish in a refugee hearing She demonstrates how a hole in the law s normative foundations is contributing to the dysfunction of one of the world s most respected refugee determination systems and may well be undermining refugee protection across the globe The author uses her findings to propose a new legal model of refugee status decision making

Labor Relations in the Public Sector, Fourth Edition Richard C. Kearney, Patrice M. Mareschal, 2011-03-23 That we are participants in a global economy may no longer be news but its impact continues to shape the field of labor relations This is certainly true in the public sector where union membership is stagnant and outsourcing is becoming more and more prevalent Further impacting current trends are local and state movements to restructure public organizations and the processes they use to conduct their activities and provide services These include the mechanisms of collective bargaining and contract administration Reflecting these and many other trends and changes this fourth edition of the perennially bestselling Labor Relations in the Public Sector is now completely updated The fundamental reader friendly organization of the book remains the same and it continues to address the many facets that must be considered today as unions still represent 40 percent of public sector workers However in keeping up with the formative events of recent times this text Accounts for emerging trends in scholarly and professional literature as well as in practice Features several new case studies that provide readers with experiential learning opportunities across a range of contemporary situations Places greater emphasis on ways to develop and use interest based win win negotiations during bargaining processes and throughout the administration of contracts This volume recognizes the key role played by unions in the federal government and in a large proportion of state and local jurisdictions but it also recognizes that much is changing Fiscal realities and strategic challenges are changing the role of the labor union in the public sector This is a trend that must be understood if its consequences are to be anticipated and met for the mutual good DHHS Publication No. (OHDS). ,1981
