A Perspective Paper

Through.. my perspective!

... Would you try and be different ..Would you? Do you know what difference will bring to you? ..well, being different is also, a perspective. It doesn't matter, in life, school, your projects, design, forms, abstraction, it all goes back to being Perspective. Just as I'm playing with these punctuations, I wanna be able to make you see or better said - feel a part of my perspective. I wanna to think of a way to reflect and communicate with this paper that may, in the end, change and make you start questioning and wanting to know more, in general. Meanwhile, this is my perspective.

Design is a form in which we express ourselves, we think, analyze and then try to express it with work. "Design is intelligence made visible" - (Alina Wheeler, author) with it's straight and curved ways of thinking. We try to design as perfect designers, but most of the time, that's not really reached. Have no fear of perfection - you will never reach it. Everyone has that sparkle of enthusiasm and passion that design us within ourselves. This perspective paper, is not about being perspective for these four, five hours, but to inspire us to improve our daily look-at-things and the way we think. More than we recognize it, it build us everyday; in daily basics, we put our perspective in choosing a book, understanding a friend's words/saying, our clothes, our way of learning in school, home, judging others, judging ourselves, putting ourselves in others shoes, accepting and disciplining ourselves etc.. in the end, that perspective, it's called character. It displays your opinion, a perspective. We don't learn only in school, that's silly. Something I'm saying quite often these days, "the difference why some people are successful or not depends on themselves. You shouldn't be the smartest, you shouldn't be the one that has the most connections, it doesn't depend on the fact if you eat from a "gold spoon", it depends in your
