The Unification of the Arts Steven Brown, 2021-11-25 What are the arts What functions do the arts serve in human life There has been a surge of cognitive biological and evolutionary interest in the arts in recent years most of it oriented towards individual artforms However there has been virtually no bridging work to integrate the arts under a single theoretical perspective This book presents the first integrated cognitive account of the arts that unites visual art theatre literature dance and music into a single framework with supporting discussions about creativity and aesthetics Its comparative approach identifies both what is unique to each artform and what they share shedding light on how the arts can combine with one another to form syntheses such as choreographing dance movements to music or setting lyrics to music to create a song While studies in the psychology of the arts tend to focus on perceptual processes and aesthetic responses alone this book offers a holistic sensorimotor account that examines the full gamut of processes from creation to perception This allows for a broad discussion of the evolution of the arts including the origins of rhythm the co evolution of music and language the evolution of drawing and cultural evolution of the arts Finally the book unifies a number of topics that have not previously been fully related to one another including theatre and literature music and language creativity and aesthetics dancing and acting and visual art and music A unique volume providing a bold new approach to the integration of the arts for academics or general readers of the arts psychology cognitive neuroscience anthropology and evolutionary studies

Pets as Sentinels, Forecasters and Promoters of Human Health M. Ramiro Pastorinho,Ana Catarina A. Sousa,2019-11-30 This book provides an up to date overview of the current knowledge and research concerning domestic pets as sentinels forecasters and promoters of human health Written by leading specialists in the fields of medicine veterinary environment analytical chemistry sociology and behavioral science this volume provides a comprehensive understanding of the capabilities of pets in what regards to human health The first seven chapters are devoted to the use of pets as sentinels for their human companions in terms of exposure to different classes of environmental chemicals The following five chapters address the use of pets as models for human diseases and promoters of human health The final two chapters highlight the psycho social and psychophysiological aspects of human animal interactions The book offers an integrated approach to the One Health concept providing in a truly holistic manner tools to assess the equilibrium between the environment men and animals This exercise will highlight and reshape our position towards the planet that despite being a microscopic dot on a microscopic dot lost in the unimaginable infinity of the Universe is still our own At the end of the day pets will always be there to help us Object-Oriented Narratology Marie-Laure Ryan,2024-06 The quick spread of posthumanism and of critiques of anthropomorphism in the past few decades has resulted in greater attention to concrete objects in critical theories and in philosophy This new materialism or new object philosophy marks a renewal of interest in the existence of objects Yet while their mode of existence is independent of human cognition it cannot erase the relation of subject to object and the foundational role of our experience of things in our mental activity These developments have important implications for narratology Traditional conceptions of narrative define its core components as setting characters and plot but nonhuman entities play a crucial role in characterizing the setting in enabling or impeding the actions of characters and thus in determining plot Marie Laure Ryan and Tang Weisheng combine a theoretical approach that defines the basic narrative functions of objects with interpretive studies of narrative texts that rely more closely on ideas advanced by proponents of new object philosophy Object Oriented Narratology opens new theoretical horizons for narratology and offers individual case studies that demonstrate the richness and diversity of the ways in which narrative both Western and non Western deals with humans relationships to their material environment and with the otherness of objects Collecting for the Curriculum Amy J.
