The Rise and Return of the Indo-Pacific Timothy Doyle, Dennis Rumley, 2019 In the 21st century the Indo Pacific region has become the new centre of the world The concept of the Indo Pacific though still under construction is a potentially pivotal site where various institutions and intellectuals of statecraft are seeking common ground on which to anchor new regional coalitions alliances and allies to better serve their respective national agendas This book explores the Indo Pacific as an ambiguous and hotly contested regional security construction It critically examines the major drivers behind the revival of classical geopolitical concepts and their deployment through different national lenses The book also analyses the presence of India and the U S in the Indo Pacific and the manner in which China has reacted to their positions in the Indo Pacific to date It suggests that national constructions of the Indo Pacific region are more informed by domestic political realities anti Chinese bigotries distinctive properties of 21st century U S hegemony and narrow nation statist sentiments rather than genuine pan regional aspirations The Rise and Return of the

Indo Pacific argues that the spouting of contested depictions of the Indo Pacific region depend on the fixed geo strategic lenses of nation states but what is also important is the re emergence of older ideas a class conceptual revival based on early to mid 20th century geopolitical ideas in many of these countries The book deliberately raises the issue of the sea and constructions of nature as these symbols are indispensable parts of many of these Indo Pacific regional narratives Despite the existence of diverse nation statist pan and sub regional discourses the narratives of the most powerful states still dominate 21st century Indo Pacific statecraft The term Indo Pacific has the potential of unsettling various existing bilateral and multilateral geopolitical equations within the Indian Ocean region Despite substantial heterogeneity in Indo Pacific regional imaginations the most dominant stories and maps are crafted and disseminated by the most dominant nation in this case the U S as it grapples with new ways of retaining its hegemony into the 21st century

Rethinking Identities in Contemporary Pakistani Fiction A. Kanwal, 2015-03-09 This book focuses on the way that notions of home and identity have changed for Muslims as a result of international war on terror rhetoric It uniquely links the post 9 11 stereotyping of Muslims and Islam in the West to the roots of current jihadism and the resurgence of ethnocentrism within the subcontinent and beyond

Emotional Intelligence for Project Managers Anthony Mersino, 2013-06-15 You've spent years gathering the technical intelligence you need for this challenging career now separate yourself from the pack by increasing your emotional intelligence As recent research has indicated that emotional intelligence EI now accounts for 70 to 80 percent of management success there is no doubt that today's successful project manager needs strong interpersonal skills and the ability to recognize emotional cues to lead their teams to success the technical expertise the position depended on so greatly in the past simply isn't enough anymore Emotional Intelligence for Project Managers introduces you to all facets of EI and shows how emotions can be leveraged to meet project goals Project managers strong in technical skills but needing help in the EI department will learn how to Set the tone and direction for the project Communicate effectively Motivate inspire and engage their team Encourage flexibility and collaboration Deal productively with stress criticism and change Establish the kind of high morale that attracts top performers Now in its second edition Emotional Intelligence for Project Managers includes several expanded sections on self awareness and self management as well as a new chapter on using EI to lead Agile Teams and a close look at Servant Leadership Canada

2016-2017 Wayne C. Thompson, 2016-07-20 This is an annually updated presentation of Canada past and present The contents in this volume are organized into sections dealing with Canada s culture Geography people history from New France to the constitutional debates in the late 20th century political system including the constitution monarchy parliament legal and court system federalism and the provinces provincial governments parties and elections defense economy the future and a comprehensive bibliography The combination of factual accuracy and up to date detail along with its informed projections make this an outstanding resource for researchers practitioners in international development media professionals government officials potential investors and students Now in its 32nd edition the content is thorough yet perfect for a one semester introductory course or general library reference Available in both print and e book formats and priced low to fit student and library budgets Statistical Mechanics, Protein Structure, and Protein Substrate Interactions Sebastian Doniach, 2013-11-22 A number of factors have come together in the last couple of decades to define the emerging interdisciplinary field of structural molecular biology First there has been the considerable growth in our ability to obtain atomic resolution structural data for biological molecules in general and proteins in particular This is a result of advances in technique both in x ray crystallography driven by the development of electronic detectors and of synchrotron radiation x ray sources and by the development of NMR techniques which allow for inference of a three dimensional structure of a protein in solution Second there has been the enormous development of techniques in DNA engineering which makes it possible to isolate and clone specific molecules of interest in sufficient quantities to enable structural measurements In addition the ability to mutate a given amino acid sequence at will has led to a new branch of biochemistry in which quantitative measurements can be made assessing the influence of a given amino acid on the function of a biological molecule A third factor resulting from the exponential increase in computing power available to researchers has been the emergence of a growing body of people who can take the structural data and use it to build atomic scale models of biomolecules in order to try and simulate their motions in an aqueous environment thus helping to provide answers to one of the most basic questions of molecular biology the relation of structure to function Charity Commission Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Committee of Public Accounts, 2013-06-04 This report examines the Cup Trust and the Charity Commission s procedures for regulating charities The Charity Commission the Commission registered the Cup Trust the Trust as a charity in April 2009 with a company called Mountstar based in the British Virgin Islands as its only trustee Although the Trust generated income of 176 million only 55 000 has been given to charitable causes and the Cup Trust claimed Gift Aid of 46 million Despite its declared charitable aims it is clear that the Trust was set up as a tax avoidance scheme by people known to be in the business of tax avoidance The Trust does not meet the public expectations of a charity and it is unacceptable that the Commission has not been able to put a stop to this abuse of charitable status The Commission began to investigate the Trust in March 2010 following concerns raised about its governance and fundraising This investigation closed in March 2012 The Commission eventually concluded that it could not de register the Trust as it was legally structured as a charity despite not being for exclusively charitable purposes The Commission has not yet brought forward proposals to change the law to exclude organisations like the Cup Trust from the register In the last 25 years the Committee and the NAO have repeatedly found severe shortcomings in the Commission s performance particularly in relation to investigation and enforcement The Commission hardly makes use of its statutory powers nor is it targeting its available resources to best effect Canada

Woolner,2017-12-12 A revealing portrait of the end of Franklin Delano Roosevelt s life and presidency shedding new light on how he made his momentous final policy decisions The first hundred days of FDR s presidency are justly famous often viewed as a period of political action without equal in American history Yet as historian David B Woolner reveals the last hundred might very well surpass them in drama and consequence Drawing on new evidence Woolner shows how FDR called on every ounce of his diminishing energy to pursue what mattered most to him the establishment of the United Nations the reinvigoration of the New Deal and the possibility of a Jewish homeland in Palestine We see a president shorn of the usual distractions of office a man whose sense of personal responsibility for the American people bore heavily upon him As Woolner argues even in declining health FDR displayed remarkable political talent and foresight as he focused his energies on shaping the peace to come

A Sailor's Life Under Four Sovereigns (Complete) Sir Henry Keppel, 2013-03-13 The master tore open his waistcoat to ascertain where he was shot and then seized his cane for some minutes I dodged under the table and over the stools but caught it at last I was unable to sit and so went to bed My father had in his possession a letter from the Rev James Wood stating that I had fired a gun at him and that Mr Thomas had thrown a slate at his head divested of its frame The following half as the warm weather approached I succeeded in finding where the master kept his hair powder and with it mixed some finely pounded sugar On coming into school the flies soon found him and as he got warm his head became black instead of white This little game exceeded my expectations as irritated beyond endurance he dismissed us from school Among our playfellows was a Norfolk neighbour Edward Gurdon who sang well and tried to teach me Our sister Sophia who married Sir James Macdonald lived not far from Needham They drove over to take us to the launch of a ship at Aldborough On the return journey I in the gig driven by the coachman following the phaeton ran foul of a fish cart and broke the shaft I was pitched on to the back of the horse slipped down the trace and found my way to the phaeton The coachman had been taking his tea too strong At the back of the schoolhouse was a gable end up which a pear tree had long before been trained The trunk stood some six feet from the wall a pathway which led to the stables ran parallel on the outer side of which were pointed rails On top of these thin planks placed edgeways up which jasmine was trained One afternoon a ball with which we had been playing lodged in the upper part of the gable end I succeeded in reaching the ball when the branch gave way and I descended with it in one hand and the ball in the other the only things that partially checked my fall were the planks I came down impaled on the spiked rails A messenger was despatched to Quidenham but there were plenty of us nobody came We looked forward to our Christmas holidays My father kept a pack of beagles much to our delight as well as that of our neighbours the Surtees and Partridges both large families and sporting who with many others made our meets very cheery Hares there were in plenty We boys had clever ponies Mine Pio Mingo was peculiar looking white with black spots bushy mane and tail showed a good deal of the white of her eye The like of her might have been found at Astley s Both ponies were undeniably clever at finding their way across ditches and through fences and generally much nearer the hounds than pleased old Capes the huntsman Most of the hounds while running preferred the furrows to the open plough as did Mingo much to the grief of poor little Dancer Rattler and others But Mingo s great dislike was a hat which my elder brothers knew only too well One Friday morning after a continued frost horses and hounds were brought out for an airing and paraded in front of the house Fancying that I knew the whereabouts of my brothers I mounted Mingo in the stable and was sneaking along so as to get near the protection of led horses At that moment through a villa garden gate appeared my Waterloo brother He took off his hat as if to give Mingo a feed of corn I gripped both mane and crupper but the rattle of the whip inside the hat was too much Instead of a somersault in the air my left foot caught in the stirrup
