Wolf, 2025-06-16 This edited anthology offers a collection of essays that each look at various types of wayfinding Together they explore a variety of wayfinding tools and techniques and their applications as well as ways of keeping track of the construction of worlds too With transmedial worlds extending over multiple media multiple authors and sometimes even multiple decades of creation a wealth of different issues can arise worlds need to direct audience members into how to organize them conceptually Edited by Mark J P Wolf and featuring contributions from a distinguished set of authors from interdisciplinary backgrounds this book enriches the theory history and practice of world building through the exploration of navigation The essays have many overlapping concerns and together they provide the reader with a range of discussions regarding wayfinding and the many ways it intersects with world building and world experiencing activities Thus rather than just analyzing worlds themselves the anthology also asks the reader to consider analyzing the act of world building itself This collection will be of interest to students and scholars in a variety of fields including Subcreation Studies Transmedia Studies Popular Culture Comparative Media Studies Video Game Studies Film Studies and Interdisciplinary Literary Studies African American Novels in the Black Lives Matter Era E. Lâle Demirtürk, 2019-08-09 African American Novels in the Black Lives Matter Era Transgressive Performativity of Black Vulnerability as Praxis in Everyday Life explores the undoing of whiteness by black people who dissociate from scripts of black criminality through radical performative reiterations of black vulnerability It studies five novels that challenge the embodied discursive practices of whiteness in interracial social encounters showing how they use strategic performances of Blackness to enable subversive practices in everyday life which is constructed and governed by white mechanisms of racialized control The agency portrayed in these novels opens up alternative spaces of Blackness to impact the social world and effects transformative change as a forceful critique of everyday life African American Novels in the Black Lives Matter Era shows how these novels reformulate the problem of black vulnerability as a constitutive source of the right to life in their refusal of subjection to vulnerability enacted by white institutional and individual forms of violence It positions a white black encounter oriented reading of these neo resistance novels of the Black Lives Matter era as a critique of everyday life in an effort to explore spaces of radical performativity of blackness to make happen social change and transformation Digital Talking Books Plus, 2013

African American Vernacular English as a Literary Dialect Sophia Huber, 2018-06-13 Knowledge about one s linguistic background especially when it is different from mainstream varieties provides a basis for identity and self Ancestral values can be upheld celebrated and rooted further in the consciousness of its speakers In the case of African American Vernacular English AAVE the matter is not straightforward and ultimately the social implications its speakers still face today are unresolved Through detailed analysis of the four building blocks phonology morphology syntax and vocabulary Sophia Huber tries to trace the development of AAVE as a literary dialect By unearthing in what ways AAVE in its written form is different from the spoken variety long established social stigmata and stereotypes which have been burned into the consciousness of the USA through a initially white dominated literary tradition will be exposed Analysing fourteen novels and one short story featuring AAVE it is the first linguistic study of this scope
