The Pacific War Papers Donald M. Goldstein,2014-05-27 The Pacific War Papers is an annotated collection of extremely rare Japanese primary source documents translated into English that provides an invaluable resource for historians and students of World War II These naval and diplomatic documents come from the collection of the late Gordon Prange the eminent scholar of Pearl Harbor who obtained them from Japanese naval leaders while working for the Military History Section of the American forces that occupied Japan Donald M Goldstein and Katherine V Dillon have assembled this collection so that these important documents are not lost to history The editors also provide expert commentary to introduce and explain the importance of the materials This book forms the companion volume to The Pearl Harbor Papers Inside the Japanese Plans Brassey s Inc 1993 which Goldstein and Dillon also edited Most of the documents published here are not available anywhere else with many translated for the first time This edited collection covers three main topics the Japanese navy before World War II prewar diplomacy and politics and Japanese naval operations and policy during the war The documents include diary extracts and candid short monographs written by high ranking Japanese officers immediately after the war They shed new light on the vast naval buildup before the war the development of the navy s operational concepts for war with the United States the organization and tactics of aircraft carrier forces and the failure of Japanese submarine operations No World War II library will be complete without this important volume Letter from the Secretary of War, Transmitting, in Answer to a Senate Resolution of March 2, 1877, a Copy of the Final Report of the Operations of the Troops in the Modoc Country United States. Army. Pacific Division,1877 Leadership Education and Training (LET) 1 ,2001 U.S. Naval Gunfire Support in the Pacific War Donald K. Mitchener,2021-07-28 On November 20 1943 the U S military invaded the Tarawa Atoll of the Gilbert Islands as part of the first American offensive in the Central Pacific region during World War II This invasion marked more than one first as it was also the introductory test of a doctrine developed during the interwar years to address problems inherent in situations in which amphibious assaults required support by naval gunfire rather than land based artillery In this detailed study Donald K Mitchener documents and analyzes the prewar development of this doctrine as well as its application and evolution between the years 1943 1945 The historical consensus is that the test at Tawara was successful and increased the efficiency with which U S forces were able to apply the doctrine in the Pacific theater for the remainder of the Second World War Mitchener challenges this view arguing that the reality was much more complex He reveals that strategic concerns often took precedence over the lessons learned in the initial engagement and that naval planners failure to stay up to date with the latest doctrinal developments and applications sometimes led them to ignore these lessons altogether U S Naval Gunfire Support in the Pacific War presents an important analysis that highlights the human cost of misinterpreting strategic and tactical realities Developing Listening Skills Debra J.
