Lytras, 2019-05-07 This book examines the relationship between information and communication technology ICT and politics in a global perspective Online around the World Laura M. Steckman, Marilyn J. Andrews, 2017-05-24 Covering more than 80 countries around the world this book provides a compelling contemporary snapshot of how people in other countries are using the Internet social media and mobile apps How do people in other countries use the social media platform Facebook differently than Americans do What topics are discussed on the largest online forum one in Indonesia with more than seven million registered users Why does Mongolia rate in the top ten countries worldwide for peak Internet speeds Readers of Online around the World A Geographic Encyclopedia of the Internet Social Media and Mobile Apps will discover the answers to these questions and learn about people s Internet and social media preferences on six continents outside of the online community of users within the United States The book begins with an overview of the Internet social media platforms and mobile apps that chronologically examines the development of technological innovations that have made the Internet what it is today The country specific entries that follow the overview provide demographic information and describe specific events influenced by online communications allowing readers to better appreciate the incredible power of online interactions across otherwise unconnected individuals and the realities and peculiarities of how people communicate in today s fast paced globalized and high technology environment This encyclopedia presents social media and the Internet in new light identifying how the use of language and the specific application of human culture impacts emerging technologies and communications dramatically affecting everything from politics to social activism education and censorship

The Routledge Companion to Global Internet Histories Gerard Goggin, Mark McLelland, 2017-02-17 The Routledge Companion to Global Internet Histories brings together research on the diverse Internet histories that have evolved in different regions language cultures and social contexts across the globe While the Internet is now in its fifth decade the understanding and formulation of its histories outside of an anglophone framework is still very much in its infancy From Tunisia to Taiwan this volume emphasizes the importance of understanding and formulating Internet histories outside of the anglophone case studies and theoretical paradigms that have thus far dominated academic scholarship on Internet history Interdisciplinary in scope the collection offers a variety of historical lenses on the development of the Internet as a new communication technology seen in the context of older technologies as a new form of sociality read alongside previous technologically mediated means of relating and as a new media vehicle for the communication of content

Political Communication Carsten Reinemann, 2014-07-28 Against the background of an enormous expansion and diversification of both political communication itself and scientific research into its structures processes and effects this volume gives an overview of some of the key theories and findings accumulated by political communication research over the last decades In order to do so the volume provides readers with review articles by renowned international authors on various aspects of I the normative regulatory and conceptual foundations of political communication II different situations of political communication e g elections referendums social movements media hypes crisis and war III the activities of and part played by political actors IV mass media and journalism V characteristics and typical features of media messages VI the role played by citizens as well as VII various kinds of effects on citizens Each section includes several chapters that address specific issues and research problems in the form of comprehensive overviews articles

Media Ownership in Africa in the Digital Age Winston Mano, Loubna El Mkaouar, 2022-10-24 Who owns the media and communications in Africa today and with what implications The book elegantly answers this urgent question by unpacking multiple dimensions of media ownership through rare and authoritative perspectives including both historical and contemporary digital developments It traces the evolving forms of ownership of media and communications in specific African contexts showing how they interact with broader changes in and outside the continent The book also shows how Big Techs such as Meta formerly known as Facebook are involved in a scramble for Africa's digital ecosystem and how their advance brings both opportunities and concerns about ownership and control The chapters analyse evolving forms of ownership and their implications on media concentration and democracy across Africa The book offers a nuanced account of how media ownership structures are in some instances captured with an ever growing and complex ecosystem that also has new opportunities for public interest media Offering a significant representation of the trends and diversity of existing media systems the book goes beyond the postcolonial geographical divisions of North and Sub Saharan Africa to highlight common patterns and significant similarities and differences of communications ownerships between and within African countries The contributors expose media and communications ownership patterns in Africa that are centralised and yet decentralising and in some cases battling resurging and globalising

New Journalism Ecologies in East and Southern Africa Trust Matsilele, Shepherd Mpofu, Dumisani Moyo, 2023-03-24 This volume presents case studies of news media employing and integrating social media into their news production practices It links social media use to journalistic practices and news production processes in the digital age of the Global South Critically the chapters look at seminal cases of start up news media whose content is informed by trends in social media ethical considerations and participatory cultures spurred by the wide use of social media There has been considerable research looking at the potential of new media technologies traditional journalism and citizen reporting The extent to which these new media technologies and citizen journalism have morphed or reconfigured traditional journalism practice remains debatable Currently there are questions around the limits of social media in journalism practice as the ethical lines continue to become blurred It is this conundrum of the role of social media in the reconfiguration of the media news making production and participatory cultures that requires more investigation Social media has also turned the logic of the political economy of media production on its head as citizens can now produce package and distribute news and information with shoestring budgets and in authoritarian regimes with no license of practice This new political economy means the power that special interest groups used to enjoy is increasingly slipping from their hands as citizens take back the power to appropriate social media journalism to counter hegemonic narratives Citizens can also perform journalistic roles of investigating and whistleblowing but with a lack off or limited regulation This volume seeks to explore and untangle these issues and provides an invaluable resource for researchers across the field of journalism mass media and communication studies

Digital Dissidence and Social Media Censorship in Africa Farooq A. Kperogi, 2022-07-27 This book reflects on the rapid rise of social media across the African continent and the legal and extra legal efforts governments have invented to try to contain it The relentless growth of social media platforms in Africa has provided the means of resistance self expression and national self fashioning for the continent's restlessly energetic and contagiously creative youth. This has provided a profound challenge to the African gatekeeper state which has often responded with strategies to constrict and constrain the rhetorical luxuriance of the social media and digital sphere. Drawing on cases from across the continent contributors explore the form and nature of social media and government censorship often via antisocial media laws or less overt tactics such as state cybersurveillance spyware attacks on social media activists or the artful deployment of the rhetoric of fake news as a smokescreen to muzzle critical voices. The book also reflects on the Chinese influence in African governments clampdown on social media and the role of Israeli NSO Group Technologies as well as the tactics and technologies which activists and users are deploying to resist or circumvent social media censorship. Drawing on a range of methodologies and disciplinary approaches this book will be an important contribution to researchers with an interest in social media activism digital rebellion discursive democracy in transitional societies censorship on the Internet and Africa more broadly.

Participatory Politics and Citizen Journalism in a Networked Africa Bruce Mutsaers, 2016-01-26 This book investigates the role of citizen journalism in railroading social and political changes in sub-Saharan Africa. Case studies are drawn from research conducted by leading scholars from the fields of media studies journalism anthropology and history who uniquely probe the real impact of technologies in driving change in Africa.

Tabloid Journalism and Press Freedom in Africa Brian Chama, 2020-09-18 This book studies tabloid journalism newspapers within the broader context of press freedom in Africa. After defining tabloid journalism and professional practices within various political contexts the book then proceeds to consider tabloids in Southern Africa and emerging cyberspace laws. Many factors of press freedom are considered including the impact of public order and national security laws on tabloids in North Africa the impact of defamation laws on tabloids in West Africa the impact of the fake news laws on tabloids in East Africa and the impact of sedition and treason laws on tabloids in Central Africa. Exploring tabloid journalism and press freedom in Arabic Portuguese and Francophone speaking countries across Africa this book is a unique addition to this emerging field. The book concludes by providing a synthesis of the developing patterns from the cases analysed and by looking to the future to make recommendations and map the challenges and the successes.

Digital Technology and Journalism Jingrong Tong, Shih-Hung Lo, 2017-10-09 This edited volume discusses the theoretical practical and methodological issues surrounding changes in journalism in the digital era. The chapters explore how technological innovations have transformed journalism and how an international comparative perspective can contribute to our understanding of the topic. Journalism is examined within Anglo American and European contexts as well as in Asia and Africa and comparative approaches and methods for journalism studies in the digital age are evaluated. In so doing the book offers a thorough investigation of changes in journalistic norms practices and genres in addition to providing an international and comparative perspective for understanding these changes and what they mean to journalism. Written by both leading scholars and media practitioners in the field the articles in this collection are based on theoretical frameworks and empirical data drawn from content analysis of newspaper and online coverage in depth interviews with news practitioners observation on the websites of news organisations and analysis of journalists on Twitter The result is a cohesive compilation that offers the reader an up to date and comprehensive understanding of digital developments in journalism and comparative journalism studies

Decolonising Journalism Education in South Africa Ms Zubeida Jaffer ,Prof. Ylva Rodny-Gumede ,Dr Mvuso Ponono ,Prof. Colin Chasi ,2021-12-20 With 342 years of colonialism and apartheid in South Africa a book of this calibre is essential to contribute to scholarly debates on the decolonisation of the media After the democratic dispensation in 1994 there was a narrow pursuit of transformation and media freedom while neglecting decolonisation patriarchal tendencies and the plight of black women journalists who are often vilified while discharging their duties It was two decades after democracy that the RhodesMustFall movement which later evolved into FeesMustFall movement reignited debates on decoloniality in the academia Moreover the book is published during the second wave of FeesMustFall student protests and the demand for decolonised free education is inevitable as no permanent solution to student funding crisis was crafted In the same vein the book advocates for decolonised pedagogy in universities including journalism curriculum That ownership of the media is still skewed towards white and with only few black companies gradually joining the industry also brings into doubt media freedom editorial independence ethics and integrity among media practitioners Therefore the decoloniality movement seeks to confront these structural challenges head on via dialogue to ensure the integrity of the journalism profession Decolonising journalism in South Africa is published at a time in which journalism serves a watchdog and a critique of a democratic government and needs to follow a bottom up social justice approach and become a voice to the voiceless Therefore this book seeks to revolutionise the media in a way that even the language of reporting of certain issues needs to be changed to a balanced kind of reporting characterised by principles of no fear or favour

The Routledge Companion to Media Disinformation and Populism Howard Tumber,Silvio Waisbord,2021-03-23 This companion brings together a diverse set of concepts used to analyse dimensions of media disinformation and populism globally The Routledge Companion to Media Disinformation and Populism explores how recent transformations in the architecture of public communication and particular attributes of the digital media ecology are conducive to the kind of polarised anti rational post fact post truth communication championed by populism It is both interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary consisting of contributions from both leading and emerging scholars analysing aspects of misinformation disinformation and populism across countries political systems and media systems A global comparative approach to the study of misinformation and populism is important in identifying common elements and characteristics and these individual chapters cover a wide range of topics and themes including fake news mediatisation propaganda alternative media immigration science and law making to name a few This companion is a key resource for academics researchers and policymakers as well as undergraduate and postgraduate students in the fields of political communication journalism law sociology cultural studies international politics and international relations      The Euro Crisis in the Media Robert G. Picard, 2015-07-28 The Euro Crisis produced the most significant challenge to European integration in 60 years testing the structures and powers of the European Union and the Eurozone and threatening the common currency This book explores how the financial and political crisis was portrayed in the European press and the implications of that coverage on public understanding of the developments their causes responsibilities for addressing the crisis the roles and effectiveness of European institutions and the implications for European integration and identity It addresses factors that shaped news and analysis the roles of European leaders and the extent to which national and pan European debates over the crisis occurred In doing so it provides a clear and readable explanation of what the portrayals tell us about Europe and European integration in the early twenty first century      Social Media and Democratization in Iraqi Kurdistan Munir Mohammad, 2019-10-15 Social Media and Democratization in Iraqi Kurdistan assesses the implications of social media usage for democratization in the context of Iraqi Kurdistan A considerable number of studies examine the impact of social media on the practice of democracy in liberal democratic contexts and on the democratization process in nondemocratic contexts However little is known about the rise and implications of using the Internet and social media platforms for democratization processes in a hybrid political system like that of Iraqi Kurdistan which combines elements of both democracy and authoritarianism The author investigates the use of social media platforms by citizens politicians electoral candidates and political parties and its significance for political participation and political communication which are selected as important elements of democratization Based on original qualitative research including interviews with activists politicians and party leaders and an analysis of relevant social media content in the Kurdish language especially on the social media platform Facebook the author argues that rather than the increase in online political participation and political communication contributing to the consolidation of democracy in the Kurdish nascent democracy it is increasing political polarization exacerbating incivility of political discourse and enabling monitoring of opposition forces by the authorities      The Palgrave Handbook of Media and Communication Research in Africa Bruce Mutsaers, 2018-03-22 This handbook attempts to fill the gap in empirical scholarship of media and communication research in Africa from an Africanist perspective The collection draws on expert knowledge of key media and communication scholars in Africa and the diaspora offering a counter narrative to existing Western and Eurocentric discourses of knowledge production As the decolonial turn takes centre stage across Africa this collection further rethinks media and communication research in a post colonial setting and provides empirical evidence as to why some of the methods conceptualised in Europe will not work in Africa The result is a thorough appraisal of the current threats challenges and opportunities facing the discipline on the continent      The Internet, Democracy and Democratization Peter Ferdinand, 2013-02-01 The Internet is transforming relations between states and citizens This study gives examples of how it is creating new political communities at various levels both in democracies and authoritarian regimes It is also used by marginalized anti democratic groups such as neo Nazis      Entfernte Nachbarn / distant neighbours / vizinhos distantes Marcus Kreutler, 2025-04-30 In diesem Buch wird untersucht ob gleichsprachige Berichterstattung in europäischen und afrikanischen Zeitungen Kennzeichen transnationaler Öffentlichkeit aufweist Dabei bertrgt der Autor ein vor allem mit Blick auf EU Staaten etabliertes Konzept auf afrikanisch europäische Länderpaare die aufgrund kolonialer Geschichte aber auch ökonomischer kultureller und sprachlicher Beziehungen womöglich ähnlichen Diskursbedarf zu gemeinsamen Themen und Konflikten haben Auf Basis der aus der Nachrichtenwerttheorie bekannten Einflussfaktoren werden je ein englisch portugiesisch und deutschsprachiges Länder- und Zeitungspaar ausgewählt Für diese Zeitungen aus Südafrika und dem Vereinigten Königreich Angola und Portugal sowie Namibia und Deutschland überprüft der Autor zunächst ob das jeweils andere Land aus der Berichterstattung gegenüber dem anderen Kontinent hervorsticht Es folgt eine Detailanalyse der wechselseitigen Berichterstattung Die Ergebnisse sind gerade aus deutscher Perspektive überraschend Die jeweils anderen Länder der untersuchten Paare sind in fünf der sechs Zeitungen besonders präsent Es finden sich Anzeichen transnationaler Öffentlichkeit wenn auch mit je nach Sprache unterschiedlicher Charakteristik      Sociological Abstracts, 2004 CSA Sociological Abstracts abstracts and indexes the international literature in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences The database provides abstracts of journal articles and citations to book reviews drawn from over 1 800 serials publications and also provides abstracts of books book chapters dissertations and conference papers
