The Civil Rights Movement

The Civil Rights Movement is known as a period of time in the 1950s and 1960s that really began about 100 years earlier, after the American Civil War. The Civil Rights Movement occurred because of the desire for racial equality after the end of slavery in America.

After the Civil War, the American South was a very racist place. There were many segregation laws, which meant people were kept separate. There were segregation laws in schools, in public places, and in the workplace. There were laws that said that people could not marry a person of a different race.

But people in the South were not happy with the segregation laws. They wanted to be treated equally. They wanted to be able to go to school with people of other races. They wanted to be able to work with people of other races. They wanted to be able to marry people of other races.

One of the first people to fight for equality was Rosa Parks. She was a Black woman who refused to give up her seat on a bus to a white person. This act of defiance led to the Montgomery Bus Boycott, which was a protest against segregation.

MOVIE STUDY GUIDE

When a single day of school and the school bus became what her parents feared had the opportunity to achieve. She graduated from a segregated high school, became a model agent, and built a family of her own.

As an adult, Ruby continued to be a role model. She was a mother and a grandmother. She was a friend and a mentor. She was a woman who had overcome so much in her life and was still able to help others.
