Mathematics Teaching in the Middle School, 2007-08

Differentiating Instruction with Menus Laurie E.

Westphal, 2007 Differentiating Instruction With Menus offers teachers everything they need to create a student centered learning environment based on choice Addressing the four main subject areas language arts math science and social studies and the major concepts taught within these areas these books provide a number of different types of menus that elementary aged students can use to select exciting products that they will develop so teachers can assess what has been learned instead of using a traditional worksheet format Each book contains attractive reproducible menus each based on the levels of Bloom's revised taxonomy for students to use to guide them in making decisions as to which products they will develop after studying a major concept or unit Using creative and challenging choices found in Tic Tac Toe Menus List Menus 2 5 8 Menus Baseball Menus and Game Show Menus students will look forward to sharing their newfound knowledge throughout the year Also included are specific guidelines for products rubrics for assessing student products and teacher introduction pages for each menu This book includes menus that teach students about whole numbers and operations fractions probability and statistics geometry measurement and problem solving Neuroinformatics Stephen H. Koslow, Michael F.

Huerta, 2013-03-07 Modern neuroscience is providing profound insights into nature's most mysterious puzzle the human brain while applications of information and computer science are transforming the way people interact with each other and with the world around them The new science of neuroinformatics which sits at the junction integrates knowledge and promises to catalyze progress in these dynamic and seemingly disparate areas of study Neuroinformatics research will allow brain and behavioral scientists to make better sense and use of their data through advanced information tools and approaches These include new ways to acquire store visualize analyze integrate synthesize and share data as well as the means for electronic scientific collaboration In this country the principal source of support for neuroinformatics research is the Human Brain Project The project which is led by the National Institute of Mental Health now supports neuroinformatics research performed by over 60 scientists This volume presents the findings of the first group of researchers Their efforts will begin to arm the next generation of brain and behavioral scientists with tools to attack the serious problem of information overload and ultimately relate their findings to those obtained from different species levels of biological organization methods and laboratories And the challenges presented by the amount diversity and complexity of brain and behavioral data will give informatics researchers the impetus to test and expand the limits of their own science The work described in this volume signals a change in the way scientists interact with data instruments and each other and points the way to a very different and richer future understanding of the human brain and mind Connected Mathematics Prentice Hall (School Division), 2003-04
