Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2006-06-30 Identifying quickly illusion with deception we tend to oppose it to the reality of life However investigating in this collection of essays illusion's functions in the Arts which thrives upon illusion and yet maintains its existential roots and meaningfulness in the real we might wonder about the nature of reality itself Does not illusion open the seeming confines of factual reality into horizons of imagination which transform it Does it not like art belong essentially

Making Images Move Gregory Zinman, 2020-01-03 Making Images Move reveals a new history of cinema by uncovering its connections to other media and art forms In this richly illustrated volume Gregory Zinman explores how moving image artists who worked in experimental film pushed the medium toward abstraction through a number of unconventional filmmaking practices including painting and scratching directly on the film strip deteriorating film with water dirt and bleach and applying materials such as paper and glue This book provides a comprehensive history of this tradition of handmade cinema from the early twentieth century to the present opening up new conversations about the production meaning and significance of the moving image From painted film to kinetic art and from psychedelic light shows to video synthesis Gregory Zinman recovers the range of forms tools and intentions that make up cinema's shadow history deepening awareness of the intersection of art and media in the twentieth century and anticipating what is to come
