Voices in Iranian Archaeology Karim Alizadeh,Megan Cifarelli,2025-02-28 In championing the work of local scholars especially female this volume begins to fill a politically imposed lacuna in the English language reporting of high quality research in one of the most formative regions for the development of human civilization This volume highlights the excellent wide ranging work of a diverse collection of Iranian archaeologists the new voices in Iranian archaeology Archaeology in Iran has developed in lockstep with the discipline of archaeology itself in part due to the colonial endeavors that provided impetus for Europeans to travel to distant lands and extract antiquities and other commodities But centuries before western archaeologists broke ground on excavations in the lands that would in 1935 be called Iran a deep and meaningful engagement with and reverence for the past was a thread running through Iranian culture since antiquity For millennia the residents and rulers of ancient Iranian lands have admired interacted with inscribed invented stories about and imitated the visible often ruined monuments of their ancestors that dotted the landscape Following numerous interruptions in the twentieth century occasioned by revolution war and the geopolitical climate Iranian archaeology has experienced a resurgence and these papers offer case studies on the archaeological and scientific sophistication of the work currently being done in Iran by Iranian archaeologists As a collection these papers show the chronological and geographical breadth of archaeology in Iran with papers analyzing the earliest evidence for human object interaction in the Paleolithic era the bustling medieval cities and their hinterlands and many stages in between The case studies deliberately highlight archaeological work across the entirety of the vast and varied geography of Iran from the fertile plains of Fars in the southwest to the rugged Zagros Mountains in the northwest from the peaks of the Elburz Mountains south of the Caspian Sea across the broad expanse of the Plateau to the eastern regions bordering Afghanistan and Turkmenistan This volume also features the work of many women in Iranian archaeology a testament to the expansion and evolution of the field and its participants in Iran In sum these papers demonstrate the commitment of a new generation of Iranian archeologists to their land s diverse and complex past Prehistoric Modernization Shengqian Chen,2025-02-28 This book explores the origins of agriculture in China and the transformation from hunter gatherer to agriculture producer Therefore it reveals the ancient genes of China as an agricultural country and digs into questions like what turning events occurred during the transformative period from hunting gathering to agricultural production and why the development of agriculture is rapid in some regions while largely delayed in others This book also introduces various definitions and theoretical methods on the study of agriculture s origin It represents the transforming era by simulating prehistoric hunter gatherer s survival strategies with data collected from modern weather station The author also tries to answer questions on the origins of agriculture production in China with comprehensive archeology evidences Critical Han Studies Thomas Mullaney,James Patrick Leibold,Stéphane Gros,Eric Armand Vanden Bussche,2012-02-15 Constituting over ninety percent of China s population Han is not only the largest ethnonational group in that country but also one of the largest categories of human identity in world history In this pathbreaking volume a multidisciplinary group of scholars examine this ambiguous identity one that shares features with but cannot be subsumed under existing notions of ethnicity culture race nationality and civilization The Lithic Assemblages of Qafzeh Cave Erella Hovers,2009-06-09 This book presents the first comprehensive description of the lithic assemblages from Qafzeh Cave one of only two Middle Paleolithic sites in the Levant that has yielded multiple burials of early anatomically modern Homo sapiens AMHs The record from this region raises the question of possible long term temporal overlap between early AMHs and Neanderthals For this reason Qafzeh has long been one of the pivotal sites in debates on the origins of AMHs and in attempts to compare and contrast the two species adaptations and behavior Although the hominin fossils from the site were published years ago until now the associated archaeological assemblages were incompletely described often leading to conflicting interpretations This monograph includes a thorough technological analysis of the lithic assemblages incorporated in their geological and sedimentological contexts This description serves as a springboard for regional comparisons as well as a more general discussion about Middle Paleolithic behavior which is relevant to important and as yet unresolved questions on the origins of modern behavior patterns The volume includes a wide ranging and up to date bibliography that provides the middle range for discussing the ecological context and behavioral complexity of the Middle Paleolithic period and ends with some thought provoking conclusions about the dynamic human interactions that existed in the region during this time Handbook of East and Southeast Asian Archaeology Junko Habu,Peter V.
