

Child development theorists

Maturation :

Arnold Gesell (1880 - 1961)

Growth and development occur in orderly stages and sequence. The individual genetic timetable affects rate of maturation.

Psychodynamic :

Sigmund Freud (1856 - 1939)

Behaviour is controlled by unconscious urges. Three components of the mind are id, ego and super ego.

Psychosocial :

Jean Piaget (1896 - 1980) Lev Vygotsky (1896 - 1934)

Personality develops in eight stages throughout a lifetime. Development is influenced through interactions with family, friends and culture.

Cognitive :

Erik Erikson (1902 - 1994)

Qualitative changes in the way children think. The child is considered an active learner going through stages.

Behaviourist :

John Watson (1878 - 1958) BF Skinner (1904 - 1990) Albert Bandura (1925)

Learning is gradual and continuous. Development is a sequence of specific conditional behaviours. Main emphasis is on the environment, not heredity. Observable behaviours are considered most important.

Ecological :

Uri Bronfenbrenner (1917 - 2005)

Balance between nature and nurture. Child is placed in the middle of concentric factors which all influence the child. Emphasis is placed both on environment and heredity.

Information processing theory:

Noam Chomsky (1928)

We all have an innate learning ability. Children are born with specialised information processing abilities that enable them to figure out structure of development.
