Education under Siege Mortimore, Peter, 2013-09-23 At a time when education is considered crucial to a country's economic success recent UK governments have insisted their reforms are the only way to make England's system world class Yet pupils are tested rather than educated teachers bullied rather than trusted and parents cast as winners or losers in a gamble for school places Education under siege considers the English education system as it is and as it might be In a highly accessible style Peter Mortimore an author with wide experience of the education sector both in the UK and abroad identifies the current system s strengths and weaknesses He concludes that England has some of the best teachers in the world but one of the most muddled systems Challenging the government s view that there is no alternative he proposes radical changes to help all schools become good schools They include a system of schools receiving a fair balance of pupils who learn easily and those who do not ensuring a more even spread of effective teachers as well as banning league tables outlawing selection opening up faith schools and integrating private schools into the state system In the final chapter he asks readers who share his concerns to demand that the politicians alter course The book will appeal to parents education students and teachers as well as everyone interested in the future education of our children The Knowledge Gap Natalie Wexler,2019-08-06 Essential reading for teachers education administrators and policymakers alike STARRED Library Journal The untold story of the root cause of America s education crisis It was only after years within the education reform movement that Natalie Wexler stumbled across a hidden explanation for our country s frustrating lack of progress when it comes to providing every child with a quality education The problem wasn t one of the usual scapegoats lazy teachers shoddy facilities lack of accountability It was something no one was talking about the elementary school curriculum s intense focus on decontextualized reading comprehension skills at the expense of actual knowledge In the tradition of Dale Russakoff s The Prize and Dana Goldstein s The Teacher Wars Wexler brings together history research and compelling characters to pull back the curtain on this fundamental flaw in our education system one that fellow reformers journalists and policymakers have long overlooked and of which the general public including many parents remains unaware But The Knowledge Gap isn t just a story of what schools have gotten so wrong it also follows innovative educators who are in the process of shedding their deeply ingrained habits and describes the rewards that have come along students who are not only excited to learn but are also acquiring the knowledge and vocabulary that will enable them to succeed If we truly want to fix our education system and unlock the potential of our neediest children we have no choice but to pay attention Promoting Great Reads to Improve Teen Reading Lucy Schall,2015-02-12 Support current educational initiatives with a ready to use tool that will help you with selection motivation and skill building relative to titles published within the last five years New demands by Common Core and other national and state standards mean teachers and librarians need support in pairing high interest content with skill building that speaks to those standards This hands on research based resource will help Covering 100 titles it guides you to topics themes values and activities that meet national and state standards The book s organization by genres topics and themes will enable librarians to serve customers with specific requests and help teachers build thematic units Focusing on recent young adult fiction and nonfiction 2010 2014 the guide offers a succinct plot summary links to popular themes and genres indication of reading levels and an engaging booktalk for each title It also includes guidelines for further promoting each book and extending knowledge through discussion The author a former middle and high school teacher
