Transnational Feminist Rhetorics and Gendered Leadership in Global Politics Rebecca S. Richards, 2014-10-28

Transnational Feminist Rhetorics and Gendered Leadership in Global Politics examines the rhetoric surrounding women who hold or have held the highest office of a nation state Heads of state such as Golda Meir Margaret Thatcher Benazir Bhutto Ellen Johnson Sirleaf and Michelle Bachelet have navigated their ascent to executive government in vastly different ways while contending with gendered expectations of leadership especially since most of them are the first woman to occupy their country's highest governmental position This book analyzes how these women rhetorically perform their positions of power discursively visually and physically in a traditionally male leadership role Specifically this project examines how certain rhetorical acts open up and close down the potential to confront the gendered expectations surrounding political leadership When people analyze campaign for or critique a female prime minister or a woman president they are not just talking about one woman but also referencing a collective neoliberal logic that interrupts and reaffirms the belief that the nation state is an eternal inevitable structure Diverse political figures such as Angela Merkel Julia Gillard and Indira Gandhi are continually put in conversation with one another through popular media representations academic scholarship and political analyses This book examines the effect of such comparisons and connections ultimately arguing that many of these gestures reduce or oversimplify women's contributions to world politics In order to show this effect this book manifests the transnational connections found in autobiographies organizations political commentaries biographical films and other sources that focus on women who have been heads of state

Peter J Ling, 2024-05-30 Scandals and high political office regularly coincide Over the last five decades with the world watching the American president as its preeminent international figure scandals affecting the president have had both international origins and international consequences Every president from Richard Nixon to Donald Trump has faced scandal but only a handful have faced a scandal so large that it threatened impeachment or even the political system itself Hence this is a study of five scandals or in the case of Clinton and Trump scandalous presidencies that produced impeachments Nixon and Watergate Reagan and Iran Contra Clinton and Impeachment Bush and the 2000 election Trump and the 2016 election Trump and Impeachments Along the way several trends have shaped the course of presidential scandals One set has been political Scandal operates in tandem with partisanship The intensity of party divisions was obviously a factor in creating the context for all the scandals discussed Scandal also springs from personality Few would disagree that the character of Nixon Clinton and Trump was the seedbed for the scandals they faced But more broadly it seems the traits required of a successful presidential candidate have changed What would once have damned a candidate is no longer an insurmountable obstacle What blocked Gary Hart in 1988 could not stop Donald Trump in 2016 The second group of trends stem from the changing media landscape Richard Nixon operated in a world dominated by major TV networks Clinton in a time that saw the emergence of cable channels such as Fox News that tailored their coverage to the biases of their viewers and Trump in a world of internet websites and social media where securing attention takes precedence over accuracy These trends have added fuel to gossip and therefore scandal As the 2016 election demonstrated they have also enabled a new form of cyber warfare that probes US weaknesses by fostering internal disunity The question now is Does scandal still carry a cost In 2024 the jury is still deliberating
