All animals need _____ to make energy from food. We get this oxygen from the _____ that we breathe. In order to get the oxygen into the blood where it can be transported to the rest of the body, the air travels through a system of organs called the _____ system.

When you _____, air enters the body through the _____ or the _____. From there it passes through the _____, which forces air into the _____ and food into the esophagus. The air travels down the trachea into two branching tubes called _____ and then on into the _____.

In the lungs oxygen from the air enters the _____. At the same time, the waste gas _____ leaves the blood and then leaves the body when you _____. Some _____ also leaves the body when you exhale, which is why mirrors get foggy when you breathe on them. The _____ is the muscle that controls the lungs.

It is important to keep the respiratory system clear so oxygen can keep flowing into your body. If something gets in your nose and irritates it, you _____. If something gets in your trachea or bronchi and irritates it, you _____. If something irritates your diaphragm, you _____. Finally, if the brain thinks you are not getting enough oxygen, then it forces you to _____.

Student Study Guide to Accompany Human

Biology Sylvia S. Mader, 2003-08 This best selling text emphasizes the relationship between humans and other living things. Intended for an introductory course, this text provides students with a firm grasp of how their bodies function and how the human population can become more fully integrated into the biosphere. An Online Learning Center tied directly to the text via icons will direct students to activities or animations that give a visual example of difficult processes as well as Working Together boxes to emphasize homeostasis. Cells: The Building Blocks of Life Gr. 7-8 Nat Reed, 2005-01-01 CELL ebrate as your students study the topic of cells in an exciting yet integrated fashion. We study the differences between one celled and multi celled organisms. Characteristics and functions of cells are studied as well as an investigation of tissues, organs, organ systems, and diffusion and osmosis. Student assignments include an amoeba labelling exercise, cell reproduction, plant and animal cells, and a study of the bizarre nature of cancer cells. The use of the microscope is an important part of this unit and information on the proper use of this instrument is provided. This Life Science lesson provides a teacher and student section with a variety of reading passages, activities, crossword word search, and answer key to create a well rounded lesson plan.
