Revolutionizing Retail K. Coulter,2014-02-20 There is a modest but growing body of scholarly literature on experiences of retail work with only a handful of studies existing on retail organizing Before Revolutionizing Retail no scholar had captured or analysed the breadth of political action being pursued in this crucial economic sector This book was awarded the Canadian Association for Work and Labour Studies 2015 Book Prize

Front-Line Workers in the Global Service Economy Giovanna Fullin,2021-06-17 Walking around the commercial streets of New York San Francisco Milan London or Paris and looking at the succession of multinational chain stores windows you can easily forget what country you are in However if you hear the small talk among the employees you hear very different stories In New York a 30 year old woman is worried because she does not know if she will work enough hours to make a living the following week whereas in Milan a mother of the same age knows she will work 20 hours a week but is concerned about whether her contract will be renewed at the end of the following month Following three years of fieldwork which included 100 in depth interviews with front line retail workers and unionists in New York City and Milan Front Line Workers in the Global Service Economy investigates both the lived experiences of salespersons in the fast fashion industry a retail sector made of large chains of stores selling fashion garments at low prices and the possibilities of collective action and structured forms of resistance to these global trends In the face of economic globalization and vigorous managerial efforts to minimize labor costs and to standardize the retail experience mass fashion workers stories tell us how strong the pressure toward work devaluation in low skilled service sectors can be and how devastating its effects are on the workers themselves 150
