authors argue that with changes in modern society the idea of personal relationships with a local GP who solely holds and controls your health records is becoming rapidly outdated The authors aim to encourage and empower patients to make informed choices about sharing their health data They do this by developing a three stage theoretical model for change to the roles of the NHS and the individual The study generates debate to stimulate and inspire new models and policy and to provoke new visions for the sharing of healthcare data Such discussion is framed through an exploration of the changing concept of privacy and patient control in healthcare information management The volume draws on best practices from Europe and the USA and combines these to form a suggested vision for the UK as an early adopter of change The volume will be essential reading for academics in the field of privacy and data protection as well as healthcare and informatics professionals across different jurisdictions Developing a Comprehensive Response to Food Safety United States.
