Wilson, 2002-05-27 From beginning to end of the Iliad Agamemnon and Achilles are locked in a high stakes struggle for dominance based on their efforts to impose competing definitions of loss incurred and the nature of compensation thereby owed This typology of scenes involving apoina or ransom and poine or revenge is the basis of Donna Wilson s detailed anthropology of compensation in Homer which she locates in the wider context of agonistic exchange Wilson argues that a struggle over definitions is a central feature of elite competition for status in the zero sum and fluid ranking system characteristic of Homeric society This system can be used to explain why Achilles refuses Agamemnon s compensation in Book 9 as well as why and how the embassy tries to mask it Ransom Revenge and Heroic Identity in the Iliad thus examines the traditional semantic cultural and poetic matrix of which compensation is an integral part The forty-seven rōnins. Transnational Politics in the Post-9/11 Novel Joseph Conte, 2019-11-22 Transnational Politics in the Post 9 11 Novel suggests that literature after September 11 2001 reflects the shift from bilateral nation state politics to the multilateralism of transnational politics While much of the criticism regarding novels of 9 11 tends to approach these works through theories of personal and collective trauma this book argues for the evolution of a post 9 11 novel that pursues a transversal approach to global conflicts that are unlikely to be resolved without diverse peoples willing to set aside sectarian interests These novels embrace not only American writers such as Don DeLillo Dave Eggers Ken Kalfus Thomas Pynchon and Amy Waldman but also the countervailing perspectives of global novelists such as J M Coetzee Orhan Pamuk Mohsin Hamid and Laila Halaby These are not novels about terrorism nor do they seek comfort in the respectful cloak of national mourning Rather they are instances of the novel in terror which recognizes that everything having been changed after 9 11 only the formally inventive presentation will suffice to acknowledge the event's unrepresentability and its shock to the political order

A Year of Vengeance Edward Stratford, 2017-09-25 Despite significant advances in annual chronology the Old Assyrian trade fundamentally lacked a regime of time at the level of the merchant's commercial and personal activities In this book Stratford sets out to recapture time through narrative drawing on the relationship between the two described by the philosopher Paul Ricoeur Investigating a possible case of revenge leads to weaving together more than a hundred mostly undated documents to form a narrative within the course of a single year of vengeance including trade disruptions illnesses and commerce This process demonstrates relationships between document and material context and time and narrative Along the way Old Assyrian commercial time and its tempos become more clear leading to descriptions of the scale of the trade and the nature of Old Assyrian archives as they have survived Ultimately the Assyrians involved appear as the earliest historical individuals in world history The treatment of alim a um's apparent revenge comprises a practicum in historical interpretation in the ancient world of interest to practitioners and theoreticians of both the ancient world and world history

Remaking Cities Tony Fry, 2017-08-10 Unprecedented challenges await the future of the world's cities Accelerating population pressure climate change food insecurity poverty and geopolitical instability in the face of such problems our current attempts at producing a sustainable agenda for the world's cities appear fragmented and inadequate Fresh thinking is needed In Remaking Cities renowned design theorist Tony Fry brings a conceptual design perspective to the challenge of urban sustainability and resilience In a typically far sighted and provocative work Fry presents ideas and actions for metrofitting a new kind of practice in architecture and urban design Metrofitting expands the technological concept of retrofit up to the city scale placing social cultural political and ethical concerns at its heart Metrofitting is not about visionary technology it is about transforming existing cities by combining available resources with human creativity prompted by new thinking about new and old urban problems It requires overcoming outmoded Eurocentric assumptions of what constitutes a city rethinking their forms and structures and understanding their metabolic processes and social and economic functions This book provides conceptually strong practical approaches that will ultimately change the whole way we view cities and the way the urban future is designed Illustrated with international case studies of metrofitting in action Remaking Cities will provoke and stimulate debate among architects urban designers and anyone concerned with the urban environment and social and cultural change

Giallo Cinema and Its Folktale Roots Michael Sevastakis, 2016-07-11 The Italian giallo film genre the equivalent of the American whodunit but incorporating extreme violence and sex was based on popular British and American fiction of the 30s and 40s adapted to the explicitly liberal filmmaking of 1970s and 1980s Europe Seldom released in American theaters these films were usually distributed as redacted bootlegs awaiting digital technology to be restored to their original content and pristine visual form This book analyzes the censored sex and violence of giallo films finding in them an inherent beauty and tracing their literary antecedents to the elements of the fairy tale as described by Russian folklorist Vladimir Propp Each chapter covers a film and its director from 1962 to 1987 The author argues that despite their formulaic production and designation as Euro sleaze these films are works of individuality and artistic virtue
